

MISS BRADY'S TRIUMPH AS MIMI IN "LA BOHEME" AT NEW YORK THEATRE.

The picturization of "La Boheme," given its premiere at the New York Theatre last night, is destined to go down in film history as a triumph in presenting an old story with an alluring newness. Perhaps in no other photo play has Alice Brady done so well as in "La Vie de Boheme," nor has Paul Capellani achieved such a distinct hit as he does in Rudolph.

A five part picture, ample opportunity to present the great scenes of the opera, is given. The director showed skill as a master of detail, particularly in depicting the Latin Quarter.

While Miss Brady is not the slender, fragile creature Mimi is supposed to be, she does splendid work.

THEDA BARA ABANDONS THE VAMPIRE ROLES IN A PHOTOPLAY "EAST LYNNE"

Followers of Theda Bara, who have been accustomed to seeing her in her now famous vampire roles, can find a delightful surprise if they will see Miss Bara as star of the William Fox photoplay version of "East Lynne" at the Academy of Music.

Miss Bara gives a remarkable portrayal of the poor Lady Isabel, who leaves a supposed faithless husband, but returns in disguise and becomes governess of her own children.

The supporting cast, which is of unusual excellence, is made up of Claire Whitney, Stuart Holmes and Ben Deely.

SINGING AND DANCING AND A STRONG "MOVIE" AT PROCTOR'S, 5TH AVE.

A regular treat is offered to the vaudeville enthusiasts in the bill presented at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre for the first half of this week. The fun honors of last night went to Flanagan and Neely Edwards. They presented a strong comedy sketch, "On and Off."

A real novelty in the singing and dancing comedy sketch, "Mr. Inquisitive," Earle Cavanagh and Loraine Lester, who are the principal characters, are ably supported by a chorus of pretty girls. "Where Are My Children?" a movie depicting birth control, rounded out a well balanced programme.

"PARISIAN BEAUTIES" PLEASE EYES AND EARS OF OLYMPIC PATRONS.

The Olympic Theatre in Fourteenth Street put forth a splendid attraction last night, "Dave Kraus's Parisian Beauties," which will run for one week.

The leading comedians are Harry Welsh and Harry Seymour, and they're good ones. A chorus of thirty pleased the patrons with their singing and dancing. Others who make up an all-star cast are Brad Sutton, Harry Keeler, Barry Melton, Caprice and Velma Addison. The bill is concluded by Kyra, who has been here over for another week in a new offering called "A Night in Cairo."
